still far from overtaking the demand it is rea-and judging from the present year it will no doubt be considerably exceeded. The receipts from postage also show an increase. The re-ccipts last year were $107,275, the probable total for the present year is $118,778, and the estimate for next year $115,000. This shows a slight excess over the expenditure,

HONGRONA, JUNE 21st, 1884.

THE Hon. P. RYBIE is to be congratulated a the action he took in objecting to the pass ing of the estimates until an opportunity had been afforded for public discussion. The hon, gentleman takes no exception to the estimates themselves, on the contrary he say he is well satisfied with them, but as a matter of principle he thought an opportunity ought to be given to the public to consider them The Supplementary Appropriation Bill for 1883 is made up for the most part of items' which have been already voted, and calls for no special remark. Not so with the estimates for the forthcoming year. These are always looked forward to with interest, and the publi is entitled to expect from the Government full explanation and information with regard to the financial position of the colony. Th Appropriation Bill for 1885 was read a firs time on Thursday, the 12th instant, and was intended to pass it through its remaining stages at the last meeting of the Council of the 19th inst. When the Bill was introduced it was necompanied by a short re port on the estimates by the Acting Colonia Secretary and Auditor-General, in which it was stated that the increases and decreases on the various items making up the probable revenue had been concisely set forth in a memorandum by the Treasurer, and that a memorandum showing the variations in the expenditure of the various establishments had also been prepared. Neither the estimates themselves nor the memorandums explaining them were accessible until Thursday last, the day when it was intended to pass the Bill. Mr. Exerc was therefore fully justified in asking for further delay. The Governor said ha thought it would be found that the estimates formed an ad vantageous budget in every way, and that his object had been to keep down the cost of the establishments on as low a scale as was consistent with officiency, so that the colony might have the more money to spend on the sanitary and other works which are so urgently required. A reference to the estimates themselves justifies these remarks, so far as the expenditure is concerned, inasmuch as a slight saving has been effected. On the other hand, however, the revenue shows a falling off as compared with last year. The receipts for 1883 were $1,289,448, and the probable receipts for the present year are given as $1,159,264 only, being 354,834 less than the amount estimated, and $129,184 less than the revenue for 1883; but some recovery is expected next year, the estimated revenue for 1885 being $1,212,188 The explanation of the falling off is found in the diminished receipts from the opium monopoly. In 1883 the revenue from this source was $246,449. The estimate for 1884 was $240,000, but the receipts of the first four months of the year have only amounted to $33,369, on which basis it is now calculated the total revenue will be only $133,369, or · over $100,000 short of the amount received in 1883. This falling off is principally due we believe, to the decline of the demand for prepared opium in California and Australia, consequent on the stoppage of emigration to those countries, and also to some extent to the active competition of the Macao farmers. In addition to this the markets named had been previously overstocked, and the trade at present is comparatively stagnant. As estimate being put down at $210,000, and the Treasurer in his memorandum says :-"There is reason to hope that the revenue estimated may be collected on opium boiling during 1885." In view of the large loss of this one itemit is satisfactory to find that the total anticipated decline in the revenue this year as compared with that of last year is so small as it is, especially considering the stagnation in trade which has latterly prevailed. regret can be expressed at the disappear-The amount set down as the probable re- lance of the accumulated surplus when it is venue from stamps is slightly less than the actual revenue of 1883, being $152,370 as jects. against $153,329, but is in excess of the estimate, which was $150,000. It shighly desirable that the exploration should embrace the north branch of the Canton river, as we have more than once advocated in these columns. This we are glad to learn, is to be done. Having in view the possible opening of the Canton river to foreign trade it is of the greatest importance that Hongkong should be well informed regarding Southern China, especially that portion lying within the Canton river basin.

The steamer Anton arrived here from Hollow yesterday afternoon, bringing with her the shipwrecked crew of the steamer Marlborough and Mr. Schomburg, of Hollow. We are indebted to the latter gentleman for the following particulars with regard to the wreck. The Mark borough was in charge of a well known Holhow pilot, of good, reputation, and the disaster oc curred in fine weather. Capt, Kunath was opinion some time before the accident that the vessel sught to be kept further away, and he expressed his opinion to the pilot, but the latter. adhered to his own view, and kept on his course. Very soon afterwards the captain's view was found to be the correct one, for the steamer ran full speed on to the rocks and it was at once avident she was hopelessly fixed. She had not been there long before the Chinese authorities sent them help in the shape of six war junks to protect the stranded vessel and cargo from looters, who were not long in making their appearance in swarms. A good supply of cargo boats and coolies was promptly obtained from Holhow, and it was hoped that about half her cargo might be saved, but as she was loaded with rice, that which has been below water is no likely to be of much use. At the time M: Behomburg left the wreck, about $20,000 worth of cargohad been salved, and the coolies were still at work getting out as much as they could. The fore part of the vessel has run up the rocks, and is high and dry, but abaft the funnel she is under water. The greater part of her bottom is knocked out from the stem to beyond the funnel, and there is no doubt she is a hopeless wreck. Mr Schamburg wishes to bear testimony to the way in which the Chinese authorities rendered every was $1,067,200, and the estimated revenue assistance.
